Faubus Plans Report On U.S. Intervention

BULLETIN
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—U.S. Army troops formed a protective skirmish line for nine Negro students who leisurely walked into Central High School today, laughing and relaxed with no crowd but newsmen watching them.

As Wednesday an Army station wagon drove the six Negro girls and three boys to the front entrance of the school and two soldiers walking behind escorted them to the door.

The scene was completely quiet. There was no crowd, no shouts and no trouble.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—With integration of Central High School finally accomplished under the watchful eyes of armed federal troops, Arkansas today waited to see what Gov. Orval Faubus might do about the use of what he termed "naked force."

The embattled governor, whose Arkansas National Guard was taken into federal service by President Eisenhower Tuesday, will make a nationwide speech on radio and television from Little Rock tonight.

Faubus Breaks Silence
Faubus broke a daylong silence Wednesday night to say: "... I will make a report by radio and television on the situation in Little Rock and Arkansas to my people and the nation. I have no further comment at this time on the naked force being employed by the federal government against the people of my state."

Nine Negroes made history in this city's racial struggle Wednesday when they attended classes at the formerly all-white school.

Never before had United States troops been used to enforce public school integration.

The Negroes were driven to school in an Army station wagon and a score of paratroopers with fixed bayonets conveyed them from the vehicle into the school.

Within, other armed soldiers guarded doors to their classrooms and marched with them in the corridors when they changed classes.

When school ended, the three

Negro boys and six girls were guarded again as they walked to the station wagon that had brought them.

Troops Quelled Outbreaks
Long before school let out, about 450 troops of the 101st Airborne Division had quelled a number of outbreaks of minor violence in the school area.

One white civilian, C. E. Blake, was clubbed with a rifle butt. The Army said he tried to take a rifle away from a paratrooper. Paul Downs suffered a bayonet stab in his right arm when he failed to move on the soldiers' orders. Both men bled profusely.

No clusters of persons were permitted near the school. The soldiers cleared an area ranging from a block to three blocks from the campus.

A helicopter hovered overhead to spot any gatherings and inform the ground troops.

In a surprise move Wednesday night federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen relieved the

Showplace Barn Levelled by Fire

$45,000 Loss Cited In E. Palestine Blaze

EAST PALESTINE — A dawn blaze today leveled the showplace two-story frame barn on the 240-acre farm of Charles Wilson, a mile north of here off Route 170.

Damage was estimated at $45,000.

Although the barn, 30 tons of hay, 10 tons of straw, 500 bushels of oats, 200 bushels of corn, a wagon, grain elevator, orchard equipment and other farm machinery were a total loss, all livestock was outside the barn at the time.

Wilson said if it had been later in the fall, all the livestock would have been lost in the blaze which consumed the frame structure and contents in about 30 minutes.

Three companies of firemen from East Palestine, Negley and New Waterford arrived at the scene at 6:15 a.m., 15 minutes after it had started burning. They managed to water down the nearby Wilson home, an outbuilding and a 15-acre field of dry corn with booster pumps while the big barn fire raged out of control.

Thirty-five firemen managed to save all nearby structures and the corn with the small hoses and supply of water on the three pump-trucks.

Wilson said the grain represented the August harvest from his 115-acre farm and a nearby 125-acre farm he recently purchased.

East Palestine Fire Chief Glenn Libbert estimated the loss at roughly $35,000 for the barn and between $10,000 and $15,000 for the contents. He said the loss is only partially covered by insurance.

He said the blaze destroyed the barn in a matter of minutes after a possible combustion of the hay and straw stored in the lofts of the 70-foot square structure.

The farm and barn are a showplace for agriculture enthusiasts in the East Palestine area. It is a farm-orchard operation. Wilson is a retired insurance agent.

Mother Jumps Into Cistern To Save Baby

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Mildred Stover, 31-year-old mother of 10 children, and soon expecting her 11th, stood in four feet of water at the bottom of a cistern Wednesday and for 30 minutes squeezed her unconscious three-year-old son Jeffrey, "to keep the water from his lungs" until help arrived.

The boy had fallen into the 11-foot deep cistern after prying loose its concrete cover.

Adding to the drama enacted on the side porch of Mrs. Stover's remotely situated home was the fact that help came only after Mrs. Hazel Bates, 32, residing at the same address—and suffering from a broken back—arose from bed in response to Mrs. Stover's frantic calls, to throw her a rope, then call police. She had been told, Mrs. Bates said, that she might never walk again if she left the bed.

Mrs. Stover said she "heard the cistern top scrape along the floor of the porch, then heard Jeffrey scream. I looked in the cistern... couldn't see anything... it was dark. I jumped in, felt around in the water and grabbed him. He wasn't even moving. He was unconscious. I guess I shouted 'Hazel! Hazel! Get the rope ladder! Hazel! Pull me out!'"

"It was God's will that the rope was there (on the porch)," Mrs. Bates told newsmen. "I knew I couldn't pull them up, so I threw down the rope and told Mildred to hold on while I telephoned police."

Mrs. Stover said that once she got hold of the rope, she "held on," the while "squeezing Jeffrey between my knees to keep the water from getting into his lungs."

Jeffrey was taken to a hospital.

Mrs. Bates suffered her back fracture eight weeks ago when she fell from a tree while trying to adjust a rope swing.

Conference Set Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rack-ets probes today directed further investigation into a surprise report of payoffs to Teamster boss James R. Hoffa by Detroit restaurant owners.

The report was laid before the committee by John Leyhan, Detroit restaurant man, who said he overheard it in snatches of conversation at a noisy dinner given in Detroit's Latin quarter.

"We are going to follow it up," committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy told reporters. "We want more information."

"The Teamsters Union can make or break a restaurant strike."

Talk Mentioned Payment
Leyhan said the discussion he overheard mentioned payments of about $1,500 every six months to Hoffa, now top-running candidate for election as president of the giant Teamsters Union at next week's union convention in Miami.

Leyhan said he could not recall just when the incident happened, but thought it was seven or eight years ago.

His story was tossed into the hearing after a long closed-door conference with committee members at which he volunteered to tell of the incident because, he said, "you've been doing a good job."

But there were prompt denials of Leyhan's story by the two men he said were involved—Ted Karsten, president of the Detroit Restaurant Guild, and Karsten's brother-in-law, Garrett L. Reading. The guild is an organization of restaurant operators formed to negotiate with labor unions.

Both agreed with Leyhan that Reading was employed as an undercover operative for the guild. But there their agreements ended.

Denies Salary Kickback
They denied emphatically that part of Reading's guild salary was returned to Karsten for subsequent delivery to Hoffa.

Leyhan said that was the procedure he heard outlined in the conversation from a table behind him at the restaurant men's dinner. He said one of the men at the table was named Schaeffer, and since has died.

Reading said his salary from the guild was deposited in his bank account. He agreed with Kennedy's statements that he made withdrawals of about $1,850 every six months, saying, "I just had the habit of doing that. I spent it." He declined to say how it was spent.

Karsten, too, denied there was any "kickback" of the salary from his brother-in-law, saying "I wish he would" return some of it. Kennedy said, "So far we have found no other restaurant operators in Detroit who even knew."

Called before the committee today was Benjamin Franklin (Frank) Collins, secretary-treasurer of the guild.

Kaiser Plant Marks Its First Anniversary

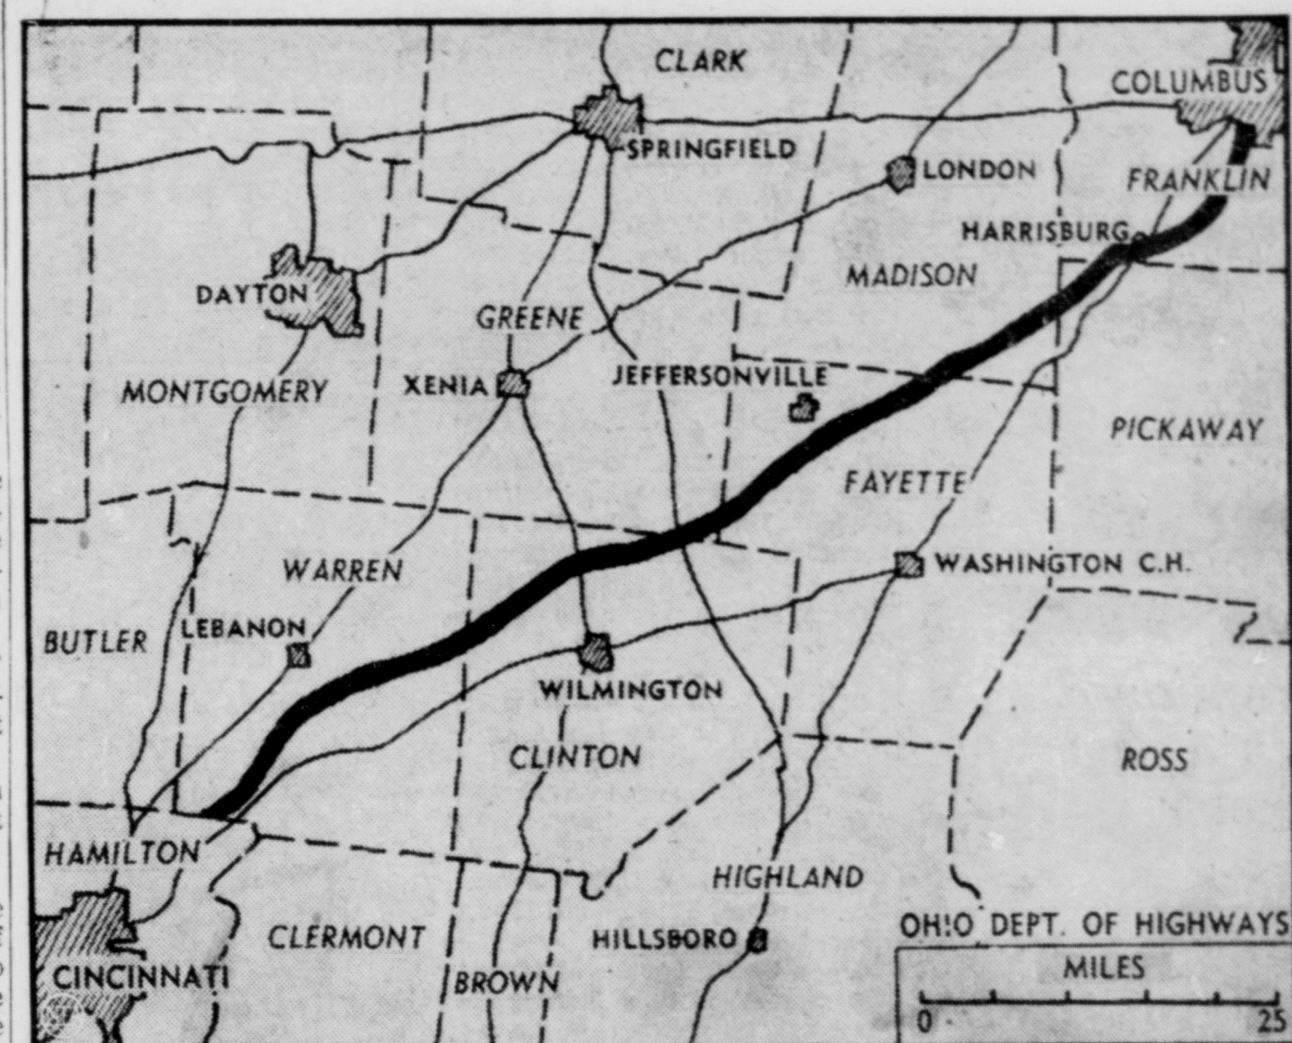

COLUMBIANA — The Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. is observing this week the completion of its first year of operations at its basic refractories plant here.

The plant was dedicated at a public ceremony and barbecue under the joint sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce and the company during late September, 1956. The celebration coincided with the plant start-up although production approached capacity a few months later.

Built at a cost of about $5,000,000, the Kaiser Chemicals facility west of town produces basic brick and ramming mixes for use by the steel industry in open hearth and electric furnace installations. The brick is also used by the cement, glass and copper industries in kilns and furnaces.

11 Are Killed As Typhoon Hits Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa. (AP)—The 146-mile winds of typhoon Faye ripped across this American base 400 miles east of Red China today, killing at least 11 persons and injuring 17 seriously. In addition, 111 persons are missing and 2,200 Okinawan homes were destroyed.

No Americans were reported killed, but some were injured.

The Okinawa Star said damage to U. S. air bases at Naha and nearby Kadena was extensive.

It reported the Marine air wings at Naha air base lost the major portion of their tactical aircraft.

There was no official U. S. Air Force confirmation.

No American deaths were reported, but many were cut and bruised from objects blown through the air. One Marine suffered a skull fracture.

The raging winds brought the big jumbo quonset-type gymnasium at Ryukyus Army Hospital crashing to the ground. Twenty-seven Americans inside escaped with minor injuries.

The southern Ryukyu island of Miyako and the three islands of Yaya took a savage beating. Some of the deaths were reported there.

State To Buy Flu Vaccine For Hospitals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state plans to spend about $20,000 in providing Asian Flu vaccine for all mental hospital wards and workers and some employees and inmates of correctional institutions.

The Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction will open bids Friday for 51,000 shots of the vaccine, which it expects will cost from 35 to 40 cents a shot.

Indications are that the drug manufacturers will be unable to supply the vaccine in the quantity wanted at an early date. Not enough has been manufactured to meet the big national demand.

The vaccine will be distributed this way — 47,300 shots to mental hospital inmates and workers, 3,000 shots for Division of Correction inmates and personnel and 700 to the Division of Juvenile Research employees.

Dr. Leonard P. Ristine, mental hygiene commissioner, said the vaccine will be given mental hospital attendants first. Next will come patients who have had chest diseases and whom Asian Flu would strike the hardest. Other patients would get shots as more vaccine is made available.

The vaccine for Division of Correction use will be given to the 1,200 guards, 800 inmates whom flu would hit hardest and 1,000 inmates working in food services, power plants and the like.

Only employees of the juvenile institutions will get the vaccine because medical men believe inmates are of an age not likely to be hit hard by flu.

Free vaccine will be made available to the Ohio Department of

AFL-CIO Sets Time Limit of Thirty Days

Parent Union Acts In Face of Reports Hoffa Sure of Election

NEW YORK (AP)—Possibilities of the bitterest schism in the ranks of organized labor in more than two decades shaped up today in the wake of a 30-day cleanup ultimatum issued to the giant Teamsters Union by the AFL-CIO high command.

The Executive Council of the AFL-CIO set the time limit for possible suspension of the nation's largest union at an extraordinary session Wednesday.

The council acted in the face of a warning that James R. Hoffa—a chief target of the AFL-CIO leadership—was sure of election as president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters at its convention in Miami Beach next week.

The warning came from John F. English, secretary-treasurer of the Teamsters, in his capacity as an AFL-CIO vice president and a member of the Executive Council.

English, who cast the lone vote against the cleanup mandate, urged the Executive Council not to make a hasty decision that he said might cut the heart out of the merged labor movement.

With the 1,400,000-member Teamsters Union put on notice to cleanse itself of corruption within 30 days or face possible stiff reprisal, the situation recalled that of 22 years ago when the founding unions of the CIO quit the old AFL.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council's order to the Teamsters was to eliminate abuses and to remove from elective or appointive office "those who are responsible for these abuses."

Hoffa Waging Campaign
Hoffa, powerful vice president of the Teamsters, is in Miami Beach waging his campaign for president as successor to the retiring Dave Beck. Both top men of the Teamsters spurned invitations from the AFL-CIO leaders to answer corruption charges against them and some other officers of the union.

An ultimatum the same as that issued to the Teamsters was directed at the 138,000-member Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union by the Executive Council Wednesday.

The Teamsters and Bakery Workers were ordered to report to the Executive Council at a special meeting here Oct. 24 on what steps have been taken to wipe out malpractices and bar corrupt influences.

UTW Gets Ultimatum
A similar ultimatum was issued Tuesday to the 40,000-member United Textile Workers of America. This union is distinct from the larger Textile Workers Union of America.

After Wednesday's council ultimatum, Secretary of Labor Mitchell said in a statement in Washington that council and AFL-CIO President George Meany, a member, "deserve the high praise of every American and especially of every trade union member for their resolute action" in ordering the Teamsters and Bakery Workers to clean house.

The Teamsters, Bakery Workers and Textile Workers unions had been indicted by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee, which filed reports with the Executive Council. The complaints of misuse of funds and other improper practices grew largely from testimony at recent hearings before the Senate Rackets Committee.

'Lightning' Hits Twice; Victim Brings Suit

LOS ANGELES — Lightning, a dog, struck twice — and the victim is suing for $10,213 damages.

Harry R. McNamara, a shutter hanger, told the story in a Superior Court suit. He asserted that while he was hanging shutters at home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Wagener of nearby North Hollywood, the Wagener police dog Lightning bit him on the right leg, drawing blood.

McNamara said he threatened to stop hanging shutters, but was assured that Lightning would not strike again.

Several weeks later, McNamara said, Lightning did strike — this time hitting another part of McNamara's body.

Questions and Answers

Since something like four million babies are born in the United States alone each year, today's first question is of considerable interest to large numbers of women.

Q—What is the average weight gain at pregnancy? I have gained 20 pounds in the first six months.

A—It is common practice for physicians to set a limit to the weight which their patients should gain during pregnancy. Limited weight gain adds to the patient's comfort and improves her appearance. It makes return to "normal weight" easier after the child is born. It also is said to lessen the chances of complications for both mother and child. The usual limit of weight gain is set between 18-20 pounds. However, many physicians arrive at the desirable weight by adding 20 pounds to the ideal weight for the patient's age and height.

Q—I am 35 and have had a complete removal of my ovaries, including the ovaries. I have many hot flashes and wonder if these will subside in time.

A—When it is necessary to remove the ovaries in this type of operation at the age 35 a surgical or premature menopause is produced. This will bring about the same symptoms as are likely to occur normally 10 years or so later. Such symptoms as those mentioned can often be considerably relieved by giving suitable quantities of endocrine preparation (hormones). They will almost certainly subside with time.

A—I have been having trouble because my breasts are getting bigger and bigger. I seem to be losing weight everywhere else and would like to know if there is a safe way to reduce their size. A—I do not know of any method which I could recommend except the possibility of some instances of surgery.

Q—I have just been informed that I have a bone disease called osteopetrosis. Can you tell me anything about this?

A—This is a bone disorder of obscure origin which is sometimes hereditary or runs in families. There is an increase in the density of many bones because of their abnormal calcium content. The disease is sometimes simply known as "marble bones."

Q—How much can one smoke without danger of cancer of the lungs?

A—This is a $64,000 question! Some people smoke heavily throughout a lifetime and never get lung cancer. However, recent studies have shown that the frequency of lung cancer appears to increase in direct proportion with the number of cigarettes smoked. This relationship is not so clear cut with pipes and cigars. Sometimes a person who has never smoked at all gets lung cancer.

Faubus' Folly

Gov. Orval Faubus may be gloating with "I-told-you-so" glee as he watches from Georgia the events around Little Rock's Central High School, but he is not fooling many people.

It is true the same 200 hysterical whites who sought and found trouble at the school Monday morning — or others like them — might have caused the same kind of disturbance a couple of weeks ago when school first opened. But, in view of the general Arkansas atmosphere on school integration until then, it is very much as possible that Monday morning's trouble would not have occurred without the flame-fanning effect the governor's calling of the guard had on the extremists.

And there are few people indeed who believe that those 200 — willing to sacrifice their own children's educations to deprive 12 Negroes of equal schooling — represent the feelings of the majority of white parents in Little Rock or in the whole South.

There are many more who, looking at the outcome of similar disturbances elsewhere in Dixie, believe that if Gov. Faubus had upheld the law as zealously as he defied it, peace would now be the order of the day at Central High.

If Orval Faubus himself thinks he has contributed something to the Southern way of life, he needs only to heed his fellow Southern governors to recognize his delusion. Dislikers of integration to a man, they have nevertheless realized the folly and the catastrophe that lurks behind obstructionism.

Said Oklahoma's Raymond Gary: Regardless of the personal feelings of the governors, "the best thing for everyone to do is to start getting ready to abide by the Supreme Court mandate, which is the law of the land."

Said Florida's Leroy Collins: "If the South should wrap itself in a Confederate blanket and consume itself in racial furor, it would surely miss its greatest opportunity for channeling in to a wonderful future the products of change now taking place."

Which is a very neat way of saying that the likes of Orval Faubus are a far greater threat to the South than integration ever will be.

Impenetrable Forest

This is National Business Women's Week. It serves both to recognize the increasing importance of women in those vocations once lumped generally into a realm called the "man's world" and to remind men that such a realm no longer exists.

The seed that destroyed it took hold in the first quarter of this century when men admitted decent women could (1) work at something besides teaching school and (2) vote. The federal government encouraged the formation of the New York Business and Professional Women's Club in 1918 to assist in mobilizing girls to fill jobs vacated by men called to war. Two years later the 19th amendment was added to the Constitution.

From this seed has grown a forest of staff endeavors. Women have come to hold positions of respect in all the arts and all the professions. They have competed with men to reach high places in business, industry and sports. Women have moved into mayor's offices, governor's chairs, state and national legislatures, cabinet posts and ambassadorships. An international flavor can be added to this week's observance by noting the new session of the U.N. General Assembly includes a record 36 women delegates, two of whom hold cabinet rank — Foreign Minister Golda Meir of Israel and Minister of State Ulla Lindstrom of Sweden.

It should be obvious by now to the most die-hard male that there is no possible way to kill off the growth of this forest. So, on the premise that if you can't beat them it's wise to join them, we say:

Hail to the working class.

Royal Desegregation

Far from Little Rock, another sort of school integration took place this week. Restraint was the rule and everything went smoothly.

Thus did Britain's 8-year-old Prince Charles became the first heir-apparent to be "integrated" in a boarding school so early in life. His father and Mother drove him to Cheam School. He was greeted in normal fashion by the headmaster and then carried his own bag to the dormitory.

Meeting his classmates, he was addressed simply as "Charles." Because he didn't cry when his folks left for home, he avoided the disgrace of being tagged a "wet."

Just as human feelings cannot be controlled by legislation, it is doubtful the other boys will soon learn to view Charles as other than a son of the ruling house. But this little unceremonious ceremony may have done more for the British monarchy than a hundred pretty speeches by the queen.

Glasses don't always improve a man's golf game—not those to be found at the 19th hole.

It's the money laid away for the phone bill that often pays the light bill just about the time the gas bill is due.

Arkansas Precedent

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Did President Unwittingly Violate Constitution?

Has President Eisenhower unwittingly violated the Constitution of the United States?

If the statute on which he is basing his action in ordering federal troops into Arkansas—a law passed during the tragic days of Reconstruction—is constitutional, which is highly doubtful.

And if the Supreme Court of the United States, which has never passed upon its validity, should uphold it, then Mr. Eisenhower will be vindicated. But any such decision would at the same time be telling the world that America has given the powers of dictatorship to a president who at any time without any check—except impeachment and subsequent removal from office—may order the troops to do anything he wishes the military forces to do.

For, while the statute which the President's proclamation cites as his authority to ignore the government of any state at any time and force compliance with any court orders irrespective of their merit was passed in 1871, it has never been used by any chief executive of the United States for the purpose set forth by Mr. Eisenhower.

THERE HAVE BEEN several occasions in American history when federal troops have been sent into different states to preserve order but in every single instance with one major exception—that which occurred during Grover Cleveland's administration—the governor of a state had previously requested federal assistance. The governor of Arkansas did not request federal troops.

When President Cleveland broke a railroad strike with a court injunction in 1894 by the use of federal troops, he brought upon himself nationwide criticism. His place in history has been grievously injured by that incident. If Mr. Eisenhower now wants to tell union labor in America that he has the power today at any time to break a future strike by using federal troops, he will find the lawyers for the labor unions disputing his power under the Constitution, even as they did President Cleveland's.

There is no parallel, moreover, with the circumstances under which President Cleveland used federal troops. For, in that case, a law governing interruptions to interstate commerce and the delivery of the mail was at stake.

TODAY, THERE is no federal law forbidding segregation. The 1871 statute on which the President is relying declares that the executive can use troops on his own initiative whenever the "laws of the United States" cannot be enforced.

What evidence is there that any "law" was violated or that the order of a lower court judge was based on any valid law? These are matters of legal dispute. The real issue is whether the preservation of law and order inside any state is a constitutional right that supersedes the chance interpretation in a particular instance by a federal judge—unreviewed by a higher court—as to what he thinks ought to be done about "integration" in the schools.

For the Constitution says that federal government must guarantee every state "a republican form of government." The Supreme Court said on this point in 1949 and again in 1951:

"The state itself must determine what degree of force the crisis demands."

WHAT IS STRANGE about President Eisenhower's proclamation is that a few hours after he issued it on Monday evening of this week—and before all the people of Arkansas could read it in the press and decide to comply—he issued another proclamation claiming it had been disobeyed. Yet news dispatches reported quiet at the high school in Little Rock Tuesday morning.

There is no evidence that the Arkansas authorities—unhindered by federal interference—could not have preserved order.

But what will the American people say about President Eisenhower's violation of the pledge he gave to Congress last summer when the civil rights bill was up for passage? He promised then not to use the troops.

HERE IS WHAT he said in a press conference on July 17 last:

"I can't imagine any set of circumstances that would ever induce me to send federal troops into a federal court and into any area to enforce the orders of a federal court, because I believe that the common sense of America will never require it. Now, there may be that kind of authority resting somewhere, but certainly I am not seeking additional authority of that kind, and I would never believe that it would be a wise thing to do in this country."

What made the President reverse himself? Who in the Department of Justice dug up the tricky statutes of the Reconstruction era, which had been used in those days repeatedly to violate constitutional guarantees and then persuaded Mr. Eisenhower to ride roughshod over the rights of the states?

President Cleveland was misled by overzealous lawyers in the Department of Justice. Has history repeated itself?

Currency Convertibility

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — The big hurry to change from a Have-Not to a Have can be just as upsetting to national and international finances as to a family's.

When a family tries to take on too much too fast it runs into cash and credit troubles. When the United States tried to expand its industrial plant and living standards too fast a year or so ago it set off a new inflation. Other nations have been doing the same thing and are reaping the harvest of shaky currencies and inflated prices.

That seems to be the gist of the warnings from the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, struggling at meetings today in Washington to ward off the latest in a series of international financial crises.

The fund was set up at the end of World War II with a chief aim of easing the world's way back to currency convertibility. It's still trying, but the chances look even slimmer today than they did a year ago.

The fund says one reason is that too many and too costly national development programs are being tried all at once by the have-not nations. The International Financial setup is feeling the strain.

Convertibility means freedom to exchange one nation's currency or bank credits for another's at market prices without hindrance. That hasn't been done since the war.

Almost all nations have a tight grip on the exchange of their currencies and on the use of it in foreign trade. Even in the United States, where the dollar is strong and unchallenged, the currency is managed to the extent that the citizens can't change it into gold, and credit is made easy or tight to keep a rein on the economy.

The current fiscal crisis abroad comes from several things: 1. West Germany is stronger financially and trade-wise than her neighbors and speculators seek to turn British pounds and French francs into German marks. 2. The dollar gap has been troublesome again. Even Germany has a trade deficit with the dollar area, importing more from us than she exports to us.

The U. S. Department of Commerce sees some let-up there. It reports that in the April, May and June quarter, foreign countries gained 70 million dollars in gold and dollar assets through transactions with this country. The rub is that our deficit was due only to oil companies having paid Venezuela some 300 million dollars for oil exploration rights. That can be small comfort to nations other than Venezuela.

Almost all the nation meeting in Washington say convertibility would be a fine thing. Almost none of them is willing to give up the curbs that make it impossible now.

They need artificial controls on their currencies and curbs on their imports if they are to keep their domestic economies regulated. Almost all of them have some regulations.

The struggle against inflated prices is worldwide, as President Eisenhower pointed out to the Washington confabs. But with each nation managing its fiscal affairs by its own individual rules, the chances of world agreement are slim—unless a real crisis forces some compromise.

Going Into Politics

By RAYMOND MOLEY

On every hand we encounter shocking neglect of political responsibilities by the very people who have the most to contribute and who, incidentally, have the most to lose by the surrender of their control over the government that makes and enforces the law of the land.

Studies of the habits and interests of college students show a great indifference to and, in fact, ignorance of political processes.

An appalling number of middle and upper income business and professional people are likely to be on the golf course on primary and election days.

Even in a presidential year, only about two or three eligible Americans vote, and in 1958, with the control of Congress at stake, I estimate that about two of five eligibles will register a choice.

IN THE RECENT by-election in Wisconsin only about half of the "normal" Republican vote turned out, and that "normal" vote has been, as I have indicated above, very considerably less than the eligible vote.

It is true that much of the abstention in Wisconsin was an expression by Republicans of dissatisfaction. But the abstainers, if they really wanted to register their displeasure, should have voted for the opposition. In short, they should have voted.

Many people have tried by exhortation to arouse greater interest in politics. Sincere and dedicated teachers in colleges have tried many methods to put politics into competition with the other interests of their students.

There are many movements and organizations designed to improve government through greater citizen participation in politics. Much of this effort has been wasted.

ON ONE occasion I was asked to express an opinion why these appeals to students and others on the bases of duty have been so unsatisfactory in their results.

I offered this suggestion: "Why does boy marry girl? Because it is his duty to help propagate the race or to build a nation of homes instead of bachelors' quarters? Or because religion teaches that it is better to marry than burn? No! He marries because he finds a girl without whom he believes life would be a dreary expanse of nothing."

In short, the way to get people interested in politics is not merely to talk about duty or to tell people that if they don't get busy bad people will destroy their government. The way to get people into politics is to show them how interesting it is.

A LITTLE BOOK by Robert E. Merriam and Rachel M. Goetz entitled "Going Into Politics" measurably attempts this method of persuasion.

Merriam is a Chicago Republican who served in the Chicago City Council and who ran unsuccessfully for mayor of that city. Miss Goetz is a Democrat who has been in various political activities, including the 1956 campaign of Adlai Stevenson.

The authors have amassed sufficient experience to provide some excellent and interesting stories about life among Chicago politicians. They also offer useful suggestions about how to win votes and voter interest legitimately.

As a means of training volunteers, this should be very helpful in any political campaign. And the point of view they present avoids the aridity of the mere municipal reformer.

Despite the value of this and many other books of the sort, aimed at the good but inert citizen, nothing in print has yet approached the vividness and hard-hitting realism of the handbook produced by the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, a little book named "How To Win."

Until conservatives get into campaigns for their candidates not only some of the skilled professionalism shown in that handbook but competence in the actual process of getting out the vote, there will be many more Wisconsins.

Cotton Corners

(Editor's Note: Some of T.T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him this year. Today's essayist is a journalism teacher.)

By ESTHER G. SMITH

Trips come in all sizes, prices and kinds—short ones, long ones, and unexpected ones. Trips provide material for prolonged conversation in case each of the conversationalists has gone to the same place. Otherwise only the tripper himself is interested in the fact that he saw Queen Victoria's little crown in the Tower of London.

However, the unanticipated trip can sometimes be the most rewarding. That is the kind I want to tell about.

This summer, quite unexpectedly, I had the chance to go to Cotton Corners. I could give a Chamber of Commerce report as to its population, number of square miles, the churches, schools, but just let me say that it seemed as though some pioneering New Englander had wandered down from Connecticut and left his impress on Cotton Corners. It is white, green, trim, clean, prosperous looking and friendly.

Of course, just seeing Cotton Corners would not have made the trip complete. I just had to meet Truman Twill's Uncle George. He is just the kind of man that you imagine him to be: wise from years of observing, reading, and thinking; kind with a definite "live and let live" philosophy.

A mellow man he is, with a sense of humor. He reminded me of Lucinda Matlock of Spoon River, who insisted, "It takes life to love life." You just know when you meet Uncle George that here is a man who loves living.

When he offered to take me for a sight-seeing trip around the countryside, I was delighted. I saw Ed Pollard's corn patch, the maple grove where they "sugar-off," the bench in front of Stone's garage where the elder men of the town meet nightly to settle the affairs of the world.

Uncle George has a whole repertoire of amusing anecdotes about the local people. I think that he knows the life history of every family in Cotton Corners.

One story impressed me particularly, the one about Mr. and Mrs. Titus Shortview, who for many years had run a general store near Cotton Corners. They had lived above the store and reared four children, who were a credit to their parents and the local schools.

Titus and his wife had the reputation for being very frugal, so when they announced that they were selling the store and building a $70,000 home on Brandon Road, the community gasped. A $70,000 house in Cotton Corners was unheard of. However, the house was built, and it became a showplace for miles around. They even paid the expenses of an artist to come all the way from California to paint a mural in the living room. The mural itself cost $1,200.

As soon as the house was built and beautifully furnished, the Shortviews started quarreling. No one knew why. They had managed to get along for 30 years together.

Their divorce created quite a stir in the community, and when they held a public auction for the house and household goods, the roads leading to the house were lined for miles with cars. People came not to buy but to observe Titus and Bertha.

Uncle George said the climax of the sale came when Titus and Bertha bid against each other for the bedroom furniture. Titus got the bed, and Bertha, the dresser. Really elegant furniture, he said. The story goes that Bertha took her dresser and money and invested in a little flower shop in the southern part of the state. No one knows to this day just what did happen to the Shortviews.

Uncle George has the theory that the big house on the hill is a reminder to Cotton Corners that money and material things alone will not bring lasting happiness. I tell you that such unexpected visits as the one I took to Cotton Corners add zest to life. If you round of community activities catches you, make a visit to Cotton Corners. It will be just as much fun as you can imagine it to be.

TV 'Danger Ahead' Signs

Top men in TV are reported more worried than they seem over a probable church fight for higher standards on living room video sets. They are not taking lightly the Pope's recent call on pastors everywhere to look into routines degrading the young and susceptible and fight for reforms on TV as they fight the movies through the Legion of Decency.

Protestant church leaders, too, have denounced unnecessary roughness by the TV showmen, emphasizing the point that American kids get a daily education in plug-ugly violence through their glamor heroes.

THE ONE-PUNCH hero has given way to the character who never bests the villain without an all-out resort to sadistic routines.

The old-time traditional red-blooded man of valor who could lick a punk swiftly and with some respect for sportsmanship is being replaced on home screens, as in movies, by the hero who not only beats his opponent to a pulp, but lifts him up from the ground and socks him one on the kisser.

MANY A PARENT prays for a "League To Bar Heroes Who Require More Than Five Wallops To Subdue A Bum," or a "National Association to Limit Unnecessary Sluggings by TV Model Men."

The mystery is why television officials allow the super-sadistic routines when they are wholly unnecessary, unless it is held that no physical encounter should permit a sporting element and that no villain is polished off until he has been mauled, jumped on, hit when down and booted for an encore.

Kids eat up a gory battle and always have but up to now they have not been schooled in any idea that a real top notch hero must employ mercilessly all the tactics of the lowest hoodlum.

A JURIST REVEALED the other day numerous cases where juvenile prisoners had adopted violent routines in courtrooms, even to trying to beat up a judge with a chair. The papers are full of shocking cases where kids in street-corner fights use knives and garrison belts.

Shocking as it may seem, the girls are also getting into the act, beating up one another over minor issues.

Parents are beginning to feel that the young come to such brutality through what they see on screens from infancy up.

They develop in a camera world which teaches them that a man who wins in one punch is giving an unsatisfactory performance, that "Nice Guys Finish Last" is a fine slogan and that the pier-rock gives the basic American pattern for fair play.

The only break the moppets get is that they are generally in bed before TV wrestling shows in which every rule on decency and sportsmanship is violated to resounding cheers.

IF THE ROCKEFELLERS get tied into the Brooklyn Dodgers' picture, will the name "Bums" have to go? . . . To be replaced, perhaps, by "The Dough-ers," the "Flatbush Gush-ers" or the Oil Americans?

Justice Hugo Black was married the other day and R.R.T. says he heard that the jurist absentmindedly promised to "love, honor and dissent."

Slogan for a spendthrift government: "The liveliest WASTE in town."

Ike's Newport vacation had enough interruptions to break any man down. . . . There's a rumor that the Little Rock crisis was so much on his mind that on one hole he alerted the players ahead of him by crying "Faubus" instead of "Fore."

Teddy Atkinson has made the Jockey Hall of Fame. . . . He won galloping.

Bobby Clark, famed comedian, will play a semi-serious role in a new Broadway play, and may make the SWITCH as easily as that other former comic, Ed Wynn.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel is a Washington public relations man. Hoffa parried questions like a pro and slowed up only once, when I asked him when he had conferred with John Lewis.

There was a genial "no comment," a few more parries and off he went uptown in a cab with his buddy, O. Burt Brennan, co-defendant in the wire tap indictment.

Hoffa was free for the moment to go and his cab, on the way to the airport, sped past the Rikers Island prison where his good friend, extortionist Johnny Dio, was in his cell awaiting word from the same courtroom in which Justice Ryan had just postponed the Hoffa case.

HOFFA NEVER bothered to stay to hear whether the judge would refuse to lift the indictment of Dio in the acid blinding case. Nor did Hoffa bother to visit his pal.

Brother Hoffa is running for a mighty high-priced job and Dio is excess baggage. It will not win votes to be tied up with an old friend against whom two witnesses said they would not testify because they feared for their lives.

They said it over and over again to FBI agents and to U.S. attorneys in New York's Southern District.

So Hoffa, who never before came to New York without seeing Dio, this time had a hearty lunch and flew south.

There was no doubt that Hoffa's affability was on the best professional advice. There was no doubt that Hoffa's failure to drop in on Dio's prison cell was also part of the glamorizing campaign to have it appear that any association with muscle men had been either a case of mistaken identity or professional necessity.

ON HOFFA'S ORDERS in the past, Dio had had places of honor at Teamster functions. Teamster public relations men had trotted Dio across the land into the most fashionable places.

Once, at Hoffa's direction, Dio had a prize seat at the prize table right under the podium at a Hotel Chase roof garden banquet in St. Louis honoring Dave Beck.

That was in 1953 and the dais boards groaned under the weight of uninformed judges, senators and national labor chiefs.

Now the rewriting of this history is in the hands of an intellectual who has hitched his wagon to Hoffa's star in the Teamsters and is now his campaign manager.

He is Hoffa's brain-truster, an old radical who once headed something called the D.D.T.—Decent Democratic Trade Unionism That was before he was in the Teamsters.

It is of one Harold Gibbons, I write, a lanky good-looking fellow operating a Teamster local in St. Louis.

GIBBONS IS the man who is collecting the signed pledges of delegates for Hoffa and devising much of Hoffa's strategy—in constant touch, of course, with Hoffa's Washington public relations man. Gibbons recently gave some of his followers a pep talk. This was at a shop stewards meeting and he was extra-sensitive to the McClellan committee charge and to the AFL-CIO charges that part of the evidence of Hoffa's unfitness is his association with Johnny Dio, now doing two years for conspiracy and bribery and soon up for more.

"You will note the concentration on Jimmy Hoffa," Gibbons said. "They picked out an obscure character in New York named John Dioguardi, so insignificant that, if he deserves the name of hoodlum, even the Kefauver committee... failed to find him."

THERE FOLLOWS much more but all Gibbons says now is that Hoffa and he had the assignment from Dave Beck to contact Dio with a unionizing New York taxi driver. There is no reference to Dio's shops or extorting money.

Nor does Gibbons report that long after Dio was forced out of the taxi situation by newspaper publicity, Hoffa said publicly that Dio could have any job he wants that Hoffa could get him in the Teamsters.

Nor does Gibbons seem at all contrite over the seriousness of the charges against Dio. Nor does he recognize the fact that Dio used sections of the Teamsters as the base of his operations.

Gibbons has been telling his friends that all this is unimportant—that the big thing now is to win for Hoffa.

Gibbons has traveled a long way from his old crusade. The price for power is appalling.

There were no witnesses. Lockland police reported. Brummitt was last seen at work shortly before 10 p. m. and his fate was hinted when planking of the pit was found disarranged as if he had slipped off, police said.

Conrad Speaks to Kiwanians About Six-Mill Levy Renewal

LEETONIA — Dr. Paul Conrad, of Ohio a levy cannot run any longer than five years when it must be renewed by a vote of the people.

Dr. Conrad pointed out that this was not a new tax but was the same operating levy that the school district has had for the past ten years. Under the laws of the State

He further pointed out that under state law, the Leetonia School District must have at least a total of ten mills for school operation before the school district could participate in the State Foundation Program. Under the Foundation Program, the school district gets a considerable amount of money for operation. This amounts to about 1½ times as much as is collected locally.

He also pointed out that this six-mill levy pays for approximately ten teachers in the school system and that he system needs each one of these teachers.

Tilton pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

Judge Robert E. Leach said he would withhold sentencing pending the motion for a new trial.

300 Are Homeless As Floods Hit Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Drenching rains swept soggy south Texas again Wednesday and rising rivers and streams chased an estimated 300 from their homes in San Antonio.

More rains were forecast today. Downpours of up to 9 inches boosted the totals to as much as 15 inches since Sunday in some spots.

The San Antonio River and tributaries swelled out of their banks here and swirled into streets and homes. Dozens of other creeks and streams in south Texas pushed across lowlands, threatened lives and stock, closed roads, stranded motorists and kept pupils from schools.

The Freyburg community had 6 inches for a 15-inch total since Sunday. San Antonio had an official 2.07 inches with up to 5 inches in some parts of the city. The official total since Sunday was 8.50 inches.

Civil defense workers and firemen rescued 120 persons, some stranded on roof tops, at the height of the flood. Many were removed by motorboats.

East Central High School closed because school busses were unable to operate.

Schulenburg, 65 miles southeast of here, had 7.64 inches since Sunday.

U.S. 181 and several farm roads were closed for a time near Floresville, 30 miles south of here, after a 6-inch downpour.

Blast Installers' Settlement

CLEVELAND (U) — Officers of Communications Workers union locals representing 18,500 striking Ohio Bell Telephone Co. employees have gone on record with a sharp condemnation of the international union.

Officers from 45 Ohio cities condemned the international union "for permitting the Western Electric standing pat on its final pre-strike for approximately the same contract that could have been received without a strike."

The statement, issued Wednesday as the officers met to hear a report on contract negotiations, said that because of the international union's action "of tying the Ohio and Western Electric negotiations together, the rug had been pulled from under the union bargaining committee in present negotiations with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co."

The CWA called Western Electric installers and Ohio Bell operators and plant craftsmen out on strike 10 days ago. Negotiators announced agreement with Western Electric last week, but the Ohio Bell negotiations still are deadlocked. The Western Electric settlement has not been approved by the union's membership.

Martin J. Hughes, Ohio director for the CWA, told the local officers to be prepared for a long strike against Ohio Bell. He said there was little hope in the near-future for any substantial improvement in the company's offer.

The local officers, in another motion, directed the bargaining committee to continue the strike "indefinitely" and to reject company proposals "until a just and fair offer is received from Ohio Bell."

The company, after rejecting one union proposal Wednesday, informed union negotiators it is standing pat on its final pre-strike offer of a 15-month contract with weekly pay raises of $2.50 to $3 or a one-year contract with raises of $2 to $4.50.

The proposal was rejected, an Ohio Bell spokesman said, on the basis "that our offer is much better for the employees." Details of this proposal and another new CWA proposal were not made public.

A union spokesman said the new union proposals are essentially efforts to "redistribute the money," meaning the money demanded in wage increases. He said the company wants to boost beginners' pay and cut down on rapid turnover of girls hired as operators out of high school, but refuses sizeable raises at the top of the six-year seniority progression.

The union spokesman said the talks are hung up on the company's insistence on settling the wage issue before discussing fringe benefits. He said the union cannot agree to a wage program adopted at the insistence of the local officers.

Hughes demanded and received a vote of confidence in himself and the bargaining committee. The company asked a recess in negotiations Wednesday to study the new union proposal.

The talks were to resume today in Hotel Carter under the guidance of federal conciliator T. W. Robertson.

Arabian Chiefs Hold Confabs On Disputes

DAMASCUS, Syria (U) — Premier Ali Jawdat of Iraq arrived in Damascus today in a dramatic demonstration of all-out efforts by King Saud of Saudi Arabia to patch up Arab world differences.

It is the first visit of any Iraqi Premier to Syria since the establishment of the Baghdad Pact, which tended to isolate the Iraqi regime from other Middle East Arab nations.

Iraq, like neighboring Jordan ruled by the Hashemite family has long been feuding with the current Syrian regime.

Premier Jawdat entered Syria from Lebanon by automobile after a trip to Beirut from Istanbul and received an apparently cordial official welcome.

The Saudi Arabian King, who flew in Wednesday, apparently strongly urged Syria to invite Iraq to participate in the talks, which King Saud seems to hope will prevent the Mideast situation from becoming a dangerous crisis.

The wealthy monarch, a friend of the United States, scheduled meetings today with President Shukri Kuwaty and other Syrian leaders.

Syria has attached great importance to the three-day visit of the King. This was shown by an impressive welcome at Damascus Airport.

Ranking government and military officials headed the cheering airport crowds. Four MIG jet fighters bought from Russia by the Syrian air force swept overhead. The King was handed a big bouquet.

Also on hand to greet Saud was Robert Strong, charge d'affaires at the U.S. Embassy.

It was the first time an American diplomat turned out for a state occasion since U.S.-Syrian relations dropped to a new low with Syrian charges of a plot by the United States against the Kuwaty government.

Many Symptoms of Trouble

What, If Anything, Is Going To Blow Up In Middle East?

WASHINGTON (AP) — What, if anything, is going to blow up in the Middle East?

It is easy to spot symptoms of trouble. It is less easy to be sure of your diagnosis.

Syria cancels officers' leaves. Jordan reinforces its patrols on the Syrian border. Israel fears new armed pressure from its Arab neighbors. Turkey wonders uneasily if it's being caught in a Communist nutcracker.

These are only a few of the symptoms. They all tie in with the contest between the United States and the Soviet Union for top position in what President Eisenhower has called the most "strategically important area in the world."

This country was there first, more or less taking over from the British when they had to reduce their overseas commitments. Lately the Russians have been moving in. They make no secret of their intention to stay in.

First Egypt veered toward the Red magnet. Lately Syria and relatively unimportant Yemen moved in that direction. Syria is the most obvious potential source of future trouble. It has been granted a big, low-interest Russian loan. It is being supplied with Soviet arms. Its army has been taken over by supposedly pro-leftist elements.

To illustrate the temper of the region: Egypt and Syria for months have poured scathing propaganda against none-too-stable, pro-Western Jordan. Jordan finally, in the past few days, has starting hitting back. It has accused Syria of inciting the Jordan people to revolt.

It is possible for an onlooker to hear the rattle of gunfire right over the horizon. And he would get small reassurance from either Washington or Moscow. Secretary of State Dulles tells the Russians they are up to "risky business" in the Middle East. Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko accuses the West of turning the region into "a permanent hotbed of military conflicts."

Some calming voices have been heard. One, rather oddly, in the White House lobby. A burnoosed visitor to President Eisenhower this week, Crown Prince Faisal of Saudi Arabia, said in effect that there's really nothing to get excited about.

"There is no danger," said the prince, who is his country's prime minister and foreign minister. "There is no Arab country which will endanger the security of any other Arab country."

This attitude—whether justified by the fact or no—helps explain why the Arab world in general viewed with disfavor this country's well-publicized shipment of arms to Jordan after the Syrian army shakeup. The attitude seems to be: thanks, but we really can manage our own affairs.

Maybe so. But even in this era of rampant Arab nationalism affairs aren't always in the hands of the Arabs, particularly when they get cozy with the Soviet Union.

Girard Denies Shouting At Woman Victim

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—William S. Girard surprised his own counsel today by denying under oath that he shouted "Get out" to scare away Japanese shell collectors on a U. S. firing range last Jan. 30.

All prosecution witnesses have testified Girard, or a soldier resembling him, shouted "Get out" or "Get out of here" that day when Mrs. Naka Sakai was killed. The Ottawa, Ill., soldier is accused of luring her closer then firing a fatal shot from his rifle grenade launcher.

Girard's defense lawyer had intended to use the warning shouts to bolster his contention that Girard was shooting away, not enticing, shell collectors.

Judge Yuzo Kawachi asked Girard whether he said "Get out" or "Get out of here." Girard replied: "No, sir."

"Girard told the truth as he knows it," Maj. Stanley Levin, Girard's army legal adviser, said later.

Isuro Hayashi, Girard's Japanese lawyer, said irritably: "I'm not ordering Girard how to testify. . . . However, I had believed those witnesses who heard 'Get out of here.'"

Girard also said he had not heard his only companion, Specialist 3.C. Victor Nickel, Inkster, Mich., shout such a warning.

Girard returned to the stand in his manslaughter trial after a 29-year-old illiterate farmer told of seeing an American soldier scatter empty cartridges on the ground then fire twice.

Defense attorneys then began an attack on the practice of scavenging scrap metal on firing ranges. They drew an admission from the witness that it is dangerous.

Kuji Sakai, the farmer, did not identify Girard by name, but said the shots were fired by the "smaller, shorter one . . . the light complexioned one."

Girard appears somewhat shorter and is lighter than Nickel.

Sakai, who is not related to the victim, told the court he saw the shooting and demonstrated with an Army rifle how the soldier held the weapon.

Under cross examination, Defense Atty. Hayashi asked Sakai: "Do you know there are signs saying you cannot enter the (firing range) area? Do you know why a red flag is put up?"

"Yes, I know," Sakai replied.

"because it is dangerous."

He also said he had been told

Leetonia Firm Makes 60 Chairs Per Day

Ort Furniture Co.'s Success Established In Three Months

LEETONIA — To manufacture a well-made, long lasting piece of furniture for presentation to the public at moderate price is probably the dream of most small producers of furniture.

The Ort Furniture Co. of Leetonia attributes its most instantaneous success in the manufacture of upholstered chairs to its ability to meet these conditions.

Proof of its success is shown by the fact that the firm has managed to exceed by 1,900 chairs its first month's output after being in business only three months.

When the company sprang into existence in June after a month's preparation, 160 of the firm's chairs came off the assembly line at the plant housed in the old Berg Bretzel factory on Cherry St. in Leetonia. In July, 440 chairs were shipped to distributors; and by Aug. 31, the firm had an output of 1,250 chairs, with orders based on distributor demand.

ARTHUR P. ORT who founded the company in May, almost five months ago, has behind him 35 years of experience in the furniture manufacturing field. Ort recently retired as a partner in the Lincoln Lounge Co. of Cleveland and, after spending some months in Florida moved to Canfield where he and his wife have purchased a home.

Officers in the company, which operates as a closed corporation, are Mrs. Ort, who is the secretary; and Ort's son, Edward, a 28-year-old graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and now assistant to the vice president of the Pittsburgh Press Box Co., who is the firm's vice president.

When Ort began his new business, he brought with him Palmer Lees as plant manager. Lees, who resides in Youngstown now, had been an employee of Ort's Cleveland business. Lees' present capacity, in addition to coordinating all facets of activity at the plant, is assisting with chair designing.

THE MAIN IDEA BEHIND the company's operations is to adhere to only four basic styles of a modern-type upholstered "television" chair. To experiment with numerous styles, Ort believes, would be a move which would cut down on production.

Also, Ort intends to reach and maintain a production peak of 100 chairs per day. At the present time, 60 chairs emerge from the assembly line at the end of each day. There will be no attempt to increase production beyond the 100-chair goal, Ort says.

Distribution of the company's products will be limited to the areas surrounding Ohio and with comparatively easy shipping distance. Nearby distributors for the Ort chairs are the National Furniture Co. in Salem, Case Furniture of Leetonia, Robin's Furniture of Youngstown, Griswold's of Warren and Dorrance Furniture of Lisbon.

THE INITIAL PROCESS in manufacturing the chairs is to cut the materials which are offered in both frieze and flat weaves in an innumerable array of shades and patterns. After the materials are cut — usually enough for two companion pieces are cut at a time — then the pieces and detail are sewn together.

The next step is to place the springs inside the chair bottoms. Tupelo gum is the type of wood used in the frames which are made by the Universal Seating Co. of Washingtonville.

Thirty - gauge staples are used in affixing the sections of the chair, including the cardboard used to form a permanent outline of style, the springs and the materials. Ort says the staples are longer lasting than ordinary tacks, and the two-pronged staples can carry a stronger weight.

The staples are inserted into the coverings and woods by suction air machines, by which the entire plant is operated. The initial cost of having air machinery installed is greater, according to Ort, but maintenance and other general expenses are less.

THE FRAMES ARE STUFFED with rubberized hair and cotton in the seat portion, and with rubberized hair alone in the chair backing. The air machine is used to run a wooden pressure machine which tightly holds the stuffing in place as an operator staples the material to it. This ensures tight covering and is more durable. The overall process of covering and stuffing the chairs revolves around a six-woman assembly line.

The final stage before readying the chairs for shipment or delivery is affixing the legs. In blonde or black colors, the legs are either straight or on a swivel-type gadget. A paint-dipping room is used for coloring the legs.

The company is beginning production this month on an innovative swivel rocker which is made of laminated wood, or 13 pieces of wood glued together, which offer twice as much strength as just one piece of wood, Ort said. Another value of the laminated wood is that any type of finish may be used, he added.

Haj Amin wants all of them dreaming of that special assassination, revolution or coup d'etat which will pave the way for their return home.

Emir Abdel Krim El Khattabi, Moroccan rebel leader, is whiling away the twilight years of his life in the spacious gardens of a villa. Grizzled and squint-eyed, he still wears the white cloak, turban, and pointed leather slippers characteristic of the Rif where he gained fame as a desert warrior a generation ago. He is 73.

The French sent Abdel Krim into exile when his rebellion was crushed in the early 20s. He likes to pore over maps of North Africa and trace the fighting between Algerians and French. He draws up battle plans and relives the days when his desert fighters held at bay the armies of France and Spain.

But he has become a sort of toothless bulldog. He long ago broke with the North African Liberation Committee, the group which won independence for Tunisia and Morocco and now is directing the fight in Algeria.

Salem To Face Strong Canton Timken Defense Friday Night

Foe Has Allowed Opponents Only Nine Points Per Game

By MARK MILLER
A powerful Canton Timken football team with an unblemished record of two straight wins this season moves in to meet the Salem Quakers Friday night at Reilly Stadium, with game time slated for 8.

Indians Edge Athletics In Slugfest

KANSAS CITY — Hoyt Wilhelm made his debut with the Cleveland Indians Wednesday night, and was credited with the victory in a 9-7 slugfest with the Kansas City Athletics.

The Indians hit six home runs and the A's four—one short of the major league record for homers by both teams in one game.

Wilhelm, a 34-year-old right-handed knuckleballer acquired on waivers from the St. Louis Cardinals, came on in the eighth inning with the score tied at 6-6.

He retired three batters in the eighth and two in the ninth, before he gave up a home run to Vic Power and hit Joe Demaestri with a pitch. Wilhelm then got Gus Zernial to hit into a force play to end the game.

The Indians scored three runs in the top of the ninth on a two-run homer by Vic Wertz, his second of the game, and a solo homer by Rocky Colvaio.

Dick Williams, Roger Maris and Dick Brown also homered for the Indians. For the A's, Woody Held hit two homers, and Billy Martin and Power one each.

Cleveland starter Ray Narleski was chased in the fifth inning. He was followed by Dick Tomank, Vito Valentini and Wilhelm.

Early Wynn hopes to be sufficiently recovered from the gout to start for the Indians tonight. Jack Urban will pitch for Kansas City.

The victory moved the Indians into a fifth place tie with Baltimore. Despite the loss, the A's clinched a tie for seventh place, because Washington lost.

Besmanoff Loses To Yvon Durelle

weight Willi Besmanoff says he is sure of two things after losing a unanimous decision to Yvon Durelle: that he must learn more about the way boxing matches are scored in this country and that with Archie Moore.

Durelle's 10-round victory Wednesday night did little to enhance his chances for a title match against Moore.

Moore himself suggested the match after he knocked out Tony Anthony last week. Anthony and Durelle battled to a draw here last summer.

Besmanoff, at 189 pounds, spotted the British Empire light heavyweight champion nearly 12 pounds but was content to box instead of punch until the last couple of rounds.

"I made him miss all night and I outboxed him," said Besmanoff, who lost his third bout in five tries since beginning his American campaign early this year. "But that is not enough in this country, I guess. In Europe, the better boxer gets the points."

TOP RUSHING TEAM
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Youngstown (Ohio) College gained 395 yards rushing in its opening football game this season to become the top rushing team in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics, the NAIA reported Wednesday.

Cubs Tounce Redlegs 7-5

Blast Hook From Mound In Third

CINCINNATI (AP)—Jay Hook, the Cincinnati Redlegs 20-year-old $65,000 bonus hurler from Northwestern University, must wait another day, perhaps another season, to record his first major league victory.

The Chicago Cubs saw to that Wednesday night when, in closing out Crosley Field for the year with a 7-5 victory, they knocked Hook from the box two-thirds of the way through the third inning. Five of six runs had crossed the plate.

Claude Osteen, just 18 and himself a minor-league acquisition, succeeded Hook, and promptly wild-pitched home the sixth tally, walked a man but ended matters by striking out the dangerous Ernie Banks—12th man to come to the plate. The Cubs broke the scoring ice in the second on Dale Long's single and Walt Moryn's double.

Osteen allowed one hit during two and one-third innings, then gave way, via a pinch-hitter, for Dave Skagstad, 17-year-old high school star from Compton, Calif. Skagstad, making his first appearance under big league fire, allowed three hits the rest of the distance.

Typical, perhaps of the "extremes of youth," the three Cincinnati youngsters walked 10 and struck out 8. Skagstad added a second wild pitch to the record-books.

Moe Drabowsky, the Cubs' own 2-year-old bonus baby, racked up his 12th win of the year, even though Don Elston had to save the game for him in the ninth after he served up successive first-pitch homers to Jerry Lynch and Curtis Flood. For Flood, 19-year-old rookie up from Savannah of the Sally League, it was his first major league circuit clout.

Lynch's effort was the 12th pinch-hit homer hit by the Redlegs this year. Frankie Robinson, who previously had fanned three times, knocked out his 29th round-tripper of the year in the eighth. The three fence-busters brought the Redlegs' season total to date to 186 against 216 at the same time a year ago.

Drabowsky pitched hitless ball until the fifth when, with one away, Don Hoak doubled. Flood replaced him in base and scored on Roy McMillan's triple. Dutch Dotterer batted for Osteen and sent McMillan home on his foul fly to Chuck Tanner.

Not even a pre-game vaudeville show would persuade more than 4,596 people to watch the season's finale. That figure, brought the season's Crosley Field total to 1,070,850, some 54,000 less than went through the turnstiles last year.

The Redlegs are idle today—traveling to Milwaukee for the last three games of the season.

UGLY MUG WINS RACE
LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Ugly Mug, a 5-year-old brown gelding, was a beautiful horse to those who "had" him Wednesday night when, in running his own fastest mile, he won the eighth race to pay his backers $62.40, one of the season's top prizes at Lebanon Raceway.

Ugly Mug went the mile in 2:08 4-5, with Bob Brown of Troy, Ohio, on the reins. He is owned by Jack L. Smith of Waynesfield, Ohio. Chill weather kept attendance to 1,277, but the night's handle totaled $50,789.

Hardest Hitting In Leagues

Milwaukee's Infield Rates Decided Edge Over New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Adcock, Red Schoendienst, Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews represent the hardest hitting infield in the major leagues.

Only first baseman Adcock, among these four, is rated less than a superior fielder. And he likely will be replaced by Frank Torre, a defensive standout, when the occasion demands.

For these reasons, the Milwaukee Braves' infield rates a decided edge over the New York Yankees in the World Series which opens next Wednesday.

The Yankees' infield picture is far from clear. The big question is whether first baseman Bill Skowron, a .304 righthanded batter with good power, will be able to play.

Manager Casey Stengel would like to have Skowron in the lineup, but he has been sidelined since Sept. 13 with a sacroiliac condition.

Should Skowron be unavailable Stengel's infield for the opener probably will shape up this way: first base—Harry Simpson; second base—Bobby Richardson or Gerry Coleman; shortstop—Gil McDougald; third base—Andy Carey. Carey likely will be replaced by Jerry Lumpe against Milwaukee righthanded pitchers Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl.

The home run figures of the infielders are most revealing. The Milwaukee regulars have accounted for 69.

For the Yanks the infielders have hit 37.

Only at shortstop, where McDougald gets the nod over Logan, do the Yankee infielders compare favorably with Milwaukee's. Gil is batting .290 to Logan's .277 and the New York star is just a bit better defensively.

Let's look at the other infield positions:

Second base: Schoendienst over Richardson or Coleman. With a batting average of .311, the red-head probably will be the only major leaguer to reach the 200-hit mark this season. Richardson and Coleman are much weaker batters.

First base: Adcock over Skowron.

OSU Undergoes Easy Practice Sessions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes is doing everything he can to have a full roster of able-bodied men on hand for the Buckeyes' football opener against Texas Christian University here Saturday.

He gave the team specific orders at practice Wednesday to avoid roughing it up. The result was a light-duty session and today's session, the OSU coach said, will be even lighter.

Almost all of Wednesday's practice emphasized defense. The Bucks continued to work out defense against plays that Texas Christian is likely to use.

Hayes put the team through a few offensive drills, again concentrating on aerial plays.

Ohio State has no more than one or two men who can play a full 60 minutes without any trouble, Hayes said. An injury to any one of three or four starters could seriously damage the Bucks in Big Ten competition.

As a result, Hayes said, Ohio State must rely on second and third string men for depth.

Midwest Grid Briefs

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest football briefs:

Iowa—Flu-type ailments hit 15 members of the Iowa team, including No. 1 tackle Alex Karras and halfbacks Kevin Furlong and Bill Gravel. Furlong was treated and released at the university infirmary. The others worked out in a short one-hour practice. All were expected to be ready for Iowa's opener Saturday with Utah State at Iowa City.

Minnesota—Memorial Stadium's 62,500 seats are sold out and Minnesota's lineup is set for Saturday's opener against Washington. It's the first opening game sellout in the school's history.

Wisconsin—Two seniors, five juniors and four sophomores shape up as the starting lineup for Saturday's opener at Madison with Marquette.

Indiana—Only two seniors, left end Del Gales and quarterback Tom McDonald, will be among the six lettermen starting at Michigan State Saturday. Coach Bob Hicks said five of his starters will be playing their first college game.

Michigan State—Coach Duffy Daugherty ordered penalty runs around the practice field for any one missing a signal in Wednesday's practice.

Michigan—An all-letterman lineup is a probability for the Wolverines in their Saturday start at Southern California. Michigan's veteran first-string team has been intact since practice began.

Purdue—A final hard drill before the Notre Dame game occupied the Boilermakers. Coach Jack Mollenkopf announced a probable starting lineup of nine lettermen and two other experienced players.

Notre Dame—Nick Pietrosante, junior fullback, and Dick Lynch, senior right halfback, handled most of the chores in a kicking drill as Notre Dame tapered off from hard practice sessions.

Northwestern—Defense against an expected Stanford passing and outside running game was the major consideration for the Wildcats as they prepared to depart for Palo Alto.

Ohio State—Varsity members worked out against Texas Christian offensive formations for their clash at Columbus Saturday.

Marquette—Halfback John Cornell unexpectedly recovered from a shoulder injury and will be ready for Wisconsin Saturday.

Musial, 'Ted' Zero In On Records

Cardinals Nail Second Place With 4-1 Win Over Braves

By The Associated Press
Right-hander Bob Buhl and southpaw Whitey Ford, both spotted for starting jobs in next week's World Series, hardly looked the part in closing warm ups for the championship playoff.

Buhl, who had won nine in a row, was rapped for six hits and four runs in the eighth as the St. Louis Cardinals nailed second place with a 4-1 victory over the National League champion Milwaukee Braves Wednesday.

Ford, picked to open the series Wednesday for the New York Yankees, was tagged for four singles and two runs in the nightcap ninth as the American League champs split a two-night pair with Baltimore, winning 5-1, then losing 4-2.

While Ford and Buhl were finding things tough, however, Stan (The Man) Musial and Ted Williams zeroed in on the major league batting crowns. Musial, whose pinch single scored the tying run for the Cards, gained two points for a .351 average. Willie Mays of the New York Giants, Musial's closest challenger in his bid for a seventh title, was idle and stayed at .333.

Williams was 2-for-3 in Boston's

Spahn, Burdette Held Only Brave Hurlers To Beat Yanks

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball buffs, dopping out the World Series winners, have concluded that only two Milwaukee pitchers—Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette — can beat the New York Yankees.

For some reason, these dopsters completely ignore Bob Buhl, whose 18-7 record establishes him as the Braves' most formidable right-hander.

"Buhl will never beat the Yankees," they avow. "He is strictly a fast ball pitcher and the Yankees murder the fast ball."

Buhl admits this sort of reasoning has left him somewhat confused.

Browns Underdogs Against Giants

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns, sprinkled with rookies, will find that the New York Giants team they meet in the season opener here Sunday is virtually the same team that won the National Football League crown last year.

The Browns, who beat the Giants 24-7 in one game last year while losing 21-9 in the other, are five-point underdogs for Sunday's game.

There are just three newcomers on the champions' roster. They are John Martinkovic, defensive end obtained from Green Bay, and two rookies, Bill Bookman, defensive back from Miami of Florida, and Ed Crawford, a halfback from Mississippi.

The 5 foot 11 Bookman is replacing Ed Hughes, who was injured in the exhibition windup against Detroit.

Jim Lee Howell, Giants' coach, plans to use the system which was so successful last season. He will open against the Browns with quarterback Don Heinrich. Then, after the initial probing, Charley Conerly, the veteran from Mississippi, will take over the quarterbacking assignment.

Completing the starting backfield will be Frank Gifford, Alex Webster and Mel Triplett.

Tommy O'Connell will start at quarterback for the Browns. This week Coach Paul Brown has been drilling two separate offensive units. Working with O'Connell are Jim Brown, Chet Hanulak and Ray Renfro.

In the second unit are John Borton at quarterback, Ed Modzelweski, Billy Reynolds and Milt Campbell.

Hasn't Scored In Packers' Stadium

Chicago Bears' Hill To Try To Break Green Bay Jinx

CHICAGO (AP)—End Harlon Hill, continued. "But I just haven't been able to get going up there." Away from Green Bay, Hill doesn't find the Packers too troublesome. He scored twice against them in Wrigley Field last fall and also snared a touchdown pass against them in 1955 at Wrigley Field.

Hill's greatest current rival in the pass-scoring department is the Packers' Bill Howton. Howton has made 10 touchdowns against the Bears in the last 11 games. In five seasons he has caught 36 touchdowns aerials to Hill's 32 in three.

Defense Department Mum On Test

Atlas Goes Up 1 Mile, Falls After Explosion

By GENE PLOWDEN
MISSILE TEST CENTER, Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—Yesterday I watched a missile die. It was a thrilling and sobering experience.

It started Sunday when we heard, via grapevine, that a big missile was to be fired from this supersecret military base midway between Miami and Jacksonville. Rumor said this was to be the Atlas.

That's the Air Force's name for our intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM). We had stood on this same beach, in almost the identical spot, June 11 watched while our first ICBM, riding upward on a tail of fire, wobbled and exploded like a million firecrackers.

Now we were back again, three months and 14 days later, to see what improvements, if any, had been made. In the meantime, the Russians said they had developed such a missile.

The Atlas, we had read, was designed to travel 15,000 miles an hour, reach an altitude of 600 miles and hurtle down on the enemy at a speed 40 times faster than sound.

The June edition of the Atlas had climbed only about 6,000 feet. We hoped—and expected—this one would do far better.

Since Monday, when newsmen took up the vigil from dawn to dark, word had spread up and down this booming peninsula and by firing time 50 or more newsmen, bathers, bird watchers and even a traveling evangelist swarmed to the beach.

At 2:58 p.m. the monster with the cone-shaped head started to rise; slowly, it seemed at first, but it was rising and gaining speed. A bouquet of flame hung beneath it. Up, up it went for perhaps a mile, then what appeared to be two spent rockets fell away.

Atlas moved upward a bit more, then faltered like an old man climbing stairs, shuddered and burst into a great mass of red, yellow and orange-colored flame.

As the skelton plunged toward the sea, nature mercifully provided a cover of clouds to hide its death throes.

The Defense Department confirmed a missile had been fired but would say no more. Authoritative sources said it was the Atlas.

Hours later Wilfred J. McNeil, assistant secretary of defense and the department's comptroller, said the cost of developing usable ballistic missiles "will be a good deal more than double the cost of developing the first atomic bomb."

That was about two billion dollars. Atlas firings in June and September lasted less than five minutes but each was an awesome display of fire and potential destruction and may well mark the birth of one of our chief weapons of warfare.

Meanwhile, the number of Asian Flu cases reported in three Lucas County schools was reduced from 580 to between 120-180. The schools reported that 580 of 1,200 students were absent with flu, but Dr. Ralph Owork, state health director, said later reports indicated not all of them had influenza.

Eight blood samples and 12 throat swabbings taken from students in Lucas County, Sandusky and Akron are being analyzed by the Health Department to see if Asian flu is present.

Bivouacked Behind School

The regulars bivouacked behind the school, Army spokesmen said. The guardsmen were ordered into federal service Tuesday at the same time that the Army, acting under President Eisenhower's orders, flew 1,000 paratroopers from Ft. Campbell, Ky., to Little Rock.

Only white paratroopers are being used at Central High. The remainder of the task force, which is in reserve, includes some Negroes.

Try Cherry Peach Meringues

A light and pretty dessert, featuring fruit, may appeal to you to serve after a hearty main course designed for brisk fall appetites. It calls for no extra sugar and so just the sweetness of the fruit predominates.

The dessert has several inducements. The peach halves and maraschino cherries it calls for can be on hand on your pantry shelf. The cherries go into a stuffing for the peaches, along with a 3-ounce package of cream cheese, lemon juice and a beaten egg white. The egg white may be one that is left over; it can be kept for about a week, ready to use, if you put it in a small jar with a tight screw-band lid and refrigerate it.

This dessert is a good one to prepare if there are weightwatchers in your family, because some of the plain peach halves garnished with cherries may be served minus the filling. This double-duty service means no extra work for the cook.

Cherry Peach Toppers

Ingredients: 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 egg white, salt, ¼ cup (about 10) chopped drained maraschino cherries, 4 large canned drained yellow cling peach halves, whole maraschino cherries (if desired).

Method: Have cream cheese (in a medium-sized mixing bowl) at room temperature so it will be soft. With a spoon, gradually beat in lemon juice until smooth. With rotary beater (hand or electric) beat egg white and a dash of salt until it holds straight peaks that do not flop over when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold egg white partly into cream-cheese mixture; add cherries and continue folding until well distributed. Arrange peach halves in a small shallow baking pan, cavity sides up. Spoon cherry mixture into each cavity. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 15 minutes; topping will be set and any peaks will be tinged with brown. Serve warm. Garnish with whole maraschino cherries if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Note: If cream cheese and lemon juice mixture is not smooth after beating with a spoon, beat together with rotary beater after egg white is stiff. It won't be necessary to have a clean egg beater for this operation.

Drained crushed pineapple and grated lemon or orange rind may be added to prepared whole cranberry sauce and used as a relish for poultry or meat. Chill after mixing and before serving.

Salmon Sandwiches

Ingredients: 1 can (8 ounces) salmon, ½ cup finely diced celery, 1 tablespoon minced green pepper, 1 teaspoon minced drained capers, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon minced onion, bread, butter.

Method: Drain salmon, remove any bones or skin and flake. Sprinkle celery, green pepper and capers over salmon. Mix together thoroughly the mayonnaise, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, prepared mustard and onion. Mix with salmon and other ingredients. Use as sandwich filling between slices of buttered bread.

the myth of "greater selection out of town"

The dictionary defines a myth as "a thing whose existence is imaginary." And nothing is more imaginary than the idea that if you shop in some BIG CITY many miles from here you will have a wider choice of merchandise than in our local stores.

True, the metropolitan stores may show more individual items, but they're more of the same! In some cases they may not even have as much variety as your hometown merchants.

And when it comes to style, our storekeepers are just as up to the minute as their big-town brethren. That's because they send buyers to the same markets! The big stores have no monopoly on sources of supply.

When you compare local prices with those of out-of-town stores, don't forget what it costs you in gasoline, oil, car depreciation, parking fees and other expenses when you drive long distances. What might seem like a saving often turns into a loss.

HERE'S HOW YOU BENEFIT BY DOING ALL YOUR SHOPPING LOCALLY

When you buy from your hometown merchants you get:

1. HONEST VALUES
2. AMPLE SELECTION
3. INSTANT DELIVERY, SERVICE AND ADJUSTMENT
4. MORE PERSONAL AND FRIENDLIER TREATMENT
5. SAVING OF TIME
6. RELIEF FROM COSTLY TRAVEL
7. FREEDOM FROM ROAD HAZARDS
8. ELIMINATION OF COSTLY PARKING PROBLEMS

Fresh, Frozen, Canned Seafoods

Right now, supplies of fish and seafood — fresh, frozen or canned — are at their seasonal peak. So arm yourselves with wonderful recipes from famous American seafood restaurants and inns, then join the fish parade on the march to meals rich in taste, nutrition and economy.

Let's stop first at Cape Ann on the Atlantic Coast, at the historical city of Gloucester, Mass. There at the Gloucester Tavern, famous for its fish dishes, we dined with Clarence Bohanon, the manager. He talked about recipes as we sat overlooking the wide Atlantic.

Halibut Au Gratin En Casserole
Three-quarters pound halibut, cut in pieces, water, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup American cheese, grated, ½ cup light cream or evaporated milk, ½ teaspoon salt, grated Parmesan cheese.

Cover fish with water and bring to boil. Drain fish but reserve 1 cup stock. Blend flour and butter together. Thicken stock with flour and butter. Add cheese, cream, salt and stir until cheese is blended. Add fish, and put into casserole. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) ½ hour or until golden brown.

Gloucester Tavern Lobster Newburg
Two cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, ¼ cup sherry (or sherry flavoring to taste), 1 cup lobster, cooked or canned, salt to taste, paprika. Heat milk in double boiler. Melt butter in saucepan; add the flour and blend together. Add to milk. Bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Add sherry or sherry flavoring, lobster, salt and paprika. Serve on buttered toast.

Victorian Menus Hold Sherbets

Victorian menus featured fruit sherbets in both cold and hot weather and served them not only for dessert but as an accompaniment to poultry or meat.

If you're interested in reviving this pleasant custom, here's a sherbet that's fine for all-year-round use because it's made from pantry shelf ingredients. Flavored with pineapple and mint, it's delightful with roast lamb. Serve it this way some Sunday when guests have been invited for dinner. The ice may be spooned into sherbet glasses and placed at the head of each place setting. Or it may be turned into small paper cups and put right on the dinner plates.

As a dessert, this sherbet is just dandy for weight watchers. It rings up only 104 calories per half-cup serving, due in part to the fact that it is made with nonfat dry milk. The instant variety of this milk mixes immediately in ice water and is used in many families where both weight watching or economy — or both — have to be taken into consideration.

Pineapple Mint Sherbet
Ingredients: 3 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon peppermint extract, ¼ cup well-drained crushed pineapple, green food coloring.

Method: Set refrigerator control at coldest point. Pour liquefied instant nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler; add gelatin and allow to soften. Add sugar. Place over hot water; stir until sugar and gelatin are dissolved. Remove from heat; add peppermint extract. Tint mixture pale green with food coloring. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray; cover with waxed paper. Place in freezing unit until mixture is a firm mush (about 1 hour). Turn into chilled bowl and beat with rotary beater (hand or electric) until fluffy. Quickly return to freezing tray and cover with waxed paper. Return to freezing unit and freeze until firm, about 2 hours. Makes eight ½ cup servings.

Mustard Sauce

Ingredients: ¼ cup dry mustard, 2 tablespoons corn oil, 2 tablespoons water, ¼ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons corn starch, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup white vinegar, 2-3 cup water.

Method: In a small mixing bowl, stir mustard and oil together until smooth. Stir in 2 tablespoons water, 1 tablespoon at a time, so that mixture is smooth after each addition; set aside. In a small saucepan, stir sugar, corn starch and salt together thoroughly. Gradually stir in vinegar and 2-3 cup water, mixing until smooth. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil over moderate heat; reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. (Mixture will be thick but it will pour). Add to mustard mixture, pouring in a steady stream and stirring constantly until smooth and blended. Pour into a jar; cool and cover.

Black smooth leather, sweater bow pump, mid-high heel. Also in walnut-brown.

High heel, black suede kid and patent side bow pump.

Tomato Sauce Adds Zest to Veal Patties

Veal patties will aid the budget for a satisfying supper or weekend meal. Serve with tomato sauce and radishes or other crisp relishes as an accompaniment.

Leftover veal, ham or beef may be used in the patties in which onion and green pepper add zest to the flavor. Milk and eggs add to the nutritional value.

The unusual tomato sauce is a delightful topping for the patties and can be used over other meats or fish dishes as well.

Try these recipes when economy and flavor are yours for the asking.

Veal Patties with Tomato Sauce
2 cups left-over cooked veal, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 slightly beaten egg, ¼ cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper.

Combine all ingredients, mixing thoroughly. Shape into 6 round patties 1 inch thick. Brown in butter.

Remove patties from pan while preparing tomato sauce. Leftover ham, or beef may be substituted for the veal. Makes 6 servings.

Tomato Sauce
¼ cup butter, 1 teaspoon finely

Fish, Shellfish Recipes Are Good

Chicago carries on the New England seafood tradition.

Several years ago, Peter Hunt, authority on Cape Cod food, crafts and traditions, arrived at the Drake Hotel and designed the Cape Cod room in the down-east tradition. Now the place is internationally known for its fish and shellfish dishes. Here are two of them:

Broiled Fish With Anchovy Sauce
One pound fish fillets (halibut, cod, haddock, ocean perch), olive oil, salt, ½ cup fine bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 anchovy fillets, chopped. Marinate fillets in olive oil for about 10 minutes. Sprinkle fillets with salt and bread crumbs. Broil 8 minutes on both sides, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Melt butter, add chopped anchovy. Serve fish with anchovy sauce and garnish with lemon wedges and parsley.

Shrimp De Jonghe
Two pounds shrimp, cleaned and cooked, ½ cup soft butter, 1 cup bread crumbs, ½ clove garlic, minced, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon chopped chives. Place shrimp in 4 individual baking dishes. Beat butter with a wire whip. Add bread crumbs, garlic, parsley and chives and mix well. Add fourth of mixture to each dish of shrimp. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven for 10 minutes.

Pineapple Bread

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-3 cup butter or margarine (melted and cooled), 1 can (9 ounces) sweetened crushed pineapple, ¼ cup coarsely cut pecans.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat the eggs until thickened and lemon-colored; beat in sugar gradually. Fold in melted cooled butter. Add sifted dry ingredients, undrained crushed pineapple and pecans; stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn into buttered loaf pan (9¼ by 5¼ by 2¼ inches); bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 50 to 60 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Loosen sides of bread from pan; turn out on rack. Cool thoroughly. Bread may be sliced after baking; or stored overnight about ¼ inch thick a few hours in tightly covered container and sliced thinner.

Sauerbraten Over Egg Noodles

Cooks of German background long ago introduced Americans to the delicious and hearty meat dish called Sauerbraten — beef marinated in spiced vinegar, then cooked on top of the range and served with gingersnap flavored gravy. Now this cosmopolitan version of pot roast is often sought after here.

Although Sauerbraten is usually accompanied by potato pancakes you might like to save yourself the chore of preparing them and serve egg noodles instead. Noodles are so much a part of the German cuisine that you needn't feel you are going too far afield in offering them.

When we served Sauerbraten, made from the following recipe, to some old devotees of this dish they gave it high praise. You'll have to begin your marinating preparations a couple of days before you cook the meat, so plan accordingly.

Sauerbraten with Noodles
Ingredients: 2 cups cider vinegar, 1 cup water, 3 medium-sized onions (thinly sliced), 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon peppercorns, ¼ teaspoon whole cloves, 4 bay leaves, 2 teaspoons salt, 1½ teaspoons dry mustard, 4 pounds boneless beef rump, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup salad oil, 1-cup finely crushed gingersnap crumbs.

Method: Mix together well the vinegar, water, sliced onions, sugar, peppercorns, whole cloves, bay leaves, 2 teaspoons salt and mustard. Pour over meat in a non-metallic container; cover. Chill for 2 days, turning meat each day. Drain meat and wipe dry; strain marinade mixture and reserve. Mix together the 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper; rub this mixture into the meat. Heat oil in kettle; add meat and brown on all sides. Add ¾ cup of the marinade mixture. Cover and cook over low heat 3½ to 4 hours or until meat is tender when center is pierced with a long fork; turn meat occasionally as it cooks. Remove meat; add gingersnap crumbs and marinade mixture (to taste) to drippings in kettle. Cook and stir constantly until blended; strain. Because the amount of meat drippings will vary, you may have to correct this gravy by adding water or stock, more gingersnap crumbs or thickening mixture, or by thickening it with a little flour. Slice meat thin and reheat it in the gravy. Makes 8 servings. The first few slices of beef on either side will be less firm than the remaining slices.

Note: You'll need 8 or 9 gingersnaps that are 1½ inches wide to make 1-3 cup fine crumbs. Noodles: Use 1 pound (about 8 cups) medium egg noodles and add gradually to 4 to 6 quarts of boiling water and 2 tablespoons of salt, so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve noodles with Sauerbraten.

Vanilla-Flavored Desserts Excellent

If one of your favorite flavors is vanilla, and you enjoy something a little different for Sunday dinner, then you'll welcome these two vanilla-flavored desserts.

Molded Vanilla Cream
Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup cold water. Heat 1¼ cups light cream. Add ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract and 1-16 teaspoon salt. Pour over softened gelatin and mix well to dissolve gelatin. Turn into four ½-cup molds or a two-cup serving dish. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with fruit sauce, if desired.

Vanilla Banana Refrigerator Cake
Arrange 15 chocolate or ginger wafers in overlapping fashion in a 7-inch spring form pan (cheese cake pan). Whip 1 cup heavy cream. Add 1 tablespoon sugar and ½ teaspoon pure vanilla extract. Spread half over wafers. Top with 1 cup sliced bananas. Top with 15 more wafers and remaining whipped cream. Chill until ready to serve. If desired, shave semi-sweet chocolate over top. Slice in 6 pie-shaped wedges.

Sandwich filling made from chopped or mashed hard-cooked eggs will benefit from the addition of finely diced celery and green pepper along with the usual mayonnaise.

Luncheon Plate

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup milk, 1 cup grated cheddar cheese, 1 can (about 1 pound) asparagus stalks, 4 to 8 slices Canadian bacon, extra butter or margarine, 4 hard-cooked eggs (sliced or halved).

Method: Melt butter over low heat in a saucepan (1 or 1½ quarts), stir in flour. Remove from heat and stir in mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth after each addition. Return to low heat; cook and stir constantly until bubbly and thickened. Stir in grated cheese until melted; use very low heat to keep smooth. Meanwhile heat asparagus in its liquid and drain; cook bacon in a little butter in a skillet. Serve hot cheese sauce over asparagus and garnish with Canadian bacon and hard-cooked eggs. Makes 4 servings.

Coffee Mold

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 teaspoons instant powdered coffee, salt, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 2 eggs (separated), 1¼ cups water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup instant nonfat dry milk solids, ¼ cup very cold water.

Method: In the top of a double boiler, stir together the 2 tablespoons sugar, powdered coffee, a dash of salt and the gelatin. Beat the egg yolks slightly; add 1¼ cups water and beat until combined; stir into gelatin mixture. Stirring constantly, cook over boiling water until gelatin dissolves — about 8 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in the vanilla. Chill, stirring occasionally, until slightly thicker than unbeaten egg white. Beat the 2 egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in the ¼ cup sugar until very stiff. Beat instant nonfat dry milk solids and ¼ cup very cold water together rapidly with rotary beater (hand or electric) until mixture stands in peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn; this will take from 5 to 10 minutes. Turn into small molds or custard cups; chill until firm. Unmold. Makes 7 servings, 8 calories each.

New Orleans Fish, Seagoood Good

New Orleans, famous for its food, treats all fish and seafood with loving kindness.

At Arnaud's restaurant in the old French Quarter (Vieux Carre), Germaine Cazenave Wells, daughter of the restaurant's founder, Count Arnaud Cazenave, carries on his traditions. She believes that cooking is not only an art but the "soul of festivity." These recipes from Arnaud's explain what she means.

Trout Meuniere Amandine

One 2-pound lake trout, salt and pepper, 2 egg yolks, 1/2 cup milk, flour, Dress and fillet trout. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Beat egg yolks and add milk slowly, mixing well. Dip the fillets in milk and egg and roll in flour. Heat fat in deep fryer to 375 degrees. Fry fish 3-5 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve with Meuniere Amandine sauce.

Meuniere Amandine Sauce

One-half cup butter, juice of half a lemon, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1/4 cup blanched and chopped almonds, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Melt butter. Add lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce. Cook, stirring, for two minutes. Add parsley and almonds.

Redfish with Hollandaise Sauce

Summer 1 1/2 pounds redfish fillets in water seasoned with pickling spices 6-10 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Place on hot platter and season with salt and pepper. Serve with Hollandaise sauce. (For a special sauce, try Arnaud's method of substituting tarragon vinegar for lemon juice and adding a little dry mustard.)

Food Is Plentiful During October

Lots of good food will be in plentiful supply this month, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The top plentiful will be cheese, young chickens, for broiling or frying, and dry peas for hot, hearty soup, they report. Also good supplies of turkeys and pork, as well as apples, potatoes, peanuts and peanut butter, and canned tuna.

From California we have a new recipe for leftover turkey. It makes a welcome October dish.

Turkey-Almond Pilaf

Leftover turkey, 1 clove garlic, 1 bay leaf, 1 chopped onion, 2 sprigs parsley, 1 red pepper pod, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup rice, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup slivered almonds.

Cut turkey from bones, leaving in large pieces. Simmer bones in 4 cups water with garlic, bay leaf, onion, parsley, red pepper and salt about 1 hour. Strain broth and measure off 2 1/2 cups. Add to rice and simmer, covered, 25 minutes or until rice is tender. Place rice in baking dish and set in moderate oven (350 degrees F. 20 minutes to dry out and fluff up.

Melt butter, add curry powder and cook a minute. Blend in flour. Stir in remaining broth (should be 1 1/2 cups) and cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Arrange slices of turkey over rice, cover with curry sauce and top with almonds. Increase heat to 400 degrees F. and bake 20 minutes, or until almonds are toasted.

Household Hints

Small fry will enjoy this: Beat an egg white until it is foamy, then gradually beat in a couple of tablespoons of sugar along with a dash of salt and a quarter teaspoon of vanilla. Drop by spoonfuls on vanilla pudding and put a tiny blob of red jelly on each miniature meringue.

Use simmering, not boiling, water when you are poaching fish. Fresh peas are wonderful when you add a dash of sugar, along with the salt during the cooking and a few tablespoons of heavy cream after they are cooked and drained.
